The Gentleman From The "Bloody Eleventh" Caleb Powers, Man of Iron

(STAFF SPECIAL TO CINCINNATI POST, Sunday, Nov. 20th.)

WHEN the Sixty-second Congress, elected November 8th, convenes for business in December, 1911, and the Clerk calls out, "The gentleman from the Eleventh Kentucky," the eyes of the curious Congressmen, both new and old, will be turned upon the tall, gaunt figure of one of the most unique characters ever elected to the lower chamber of Congress.

They will see a man whose face is rather tan colored, whose cheekbones are high like those of an Indian, although he is of purest Anglo-Saxon lineage, whose eyes are deep-set, fearless and piercing.

They will scan a face whose look of mountainer's melancholy has been deepened by visions of the hangman's noose; a face marked by a mouth whose thin lips spell grim determination. They will see a man who does not smile easily.

For this man is Caleb Powers, tried four times for alleged complicity in the assassination of Governor William Goebel, of Kentucky, in January, 1900; this is Powers, who was thrice sentenced to life imprisonment and once sentenced to be hanged; whose fate was once the principal issue in a red-hot Kentucky gubernatorial campaign; whose name was the signal for storms of hisses and word of oburgation wherever Kentucky Democrats met and for counter storms of cheers wherever Kentucky Republicans assembled; whose dire danger was the subject for speeches in many States whenever the G. O. P. held a big convention, the result being that the coffers of his defense fund were filled by big voluntary contributions.

NOT ANOTHER CALEB POWERS IN HISTORY

When his name is called in as a Legislator people of the will be pro-time in history been administer for nearly nine tive in various while awaiting and the only man four times con-ly admitted to full and free par-ward to be sworn for the whole United States it ably the first that the oath has to one who years lay a cap-county jails a trial as a felon, who, having been victed, was final-ly his liberty by a don. For that is how Powers got his liberty and his chance to go to Congress. Every time Powers was convicted the Appellate Court of Kentucky gave him a new trial. He was preparing for a fifth trial when Kentucky's Republican Governor, A. E. Wilson, freed him.

Immediately he started out after the Republican nomination for Congress in the "Bloody Eleventh," the mountain feud district. His opponent was Congressman Don C. Edwards. His Republican enemies did not fail to remind the voters that Powers had been freed only by a pardon. They charged that he had grown rich while in jail. But their appeals were in vain. Powers swamped his opponent by a majority of 10,000 votes. Although the normal Republican majority in the district was cut in half, Powers was sent to Congress by a big majority.

Even now his enemies are after him. The London Mountain Echo, a Republican paper thinks the nine Kentucky Democratic Congressmen should take steps to have him ousted. But the chances are that Powers will be sent to Congress for years.

He is forty-one. In his time he has been school teacher, cadet at West Point (quitting on account of weak eyes), law student, Superintendent of Public School in a mountain county, and finally Secretary of State of Kentucky, until ousted by a contest, and then arrested as a felon.

HAS DRUNK DEEP OF LIFE BITTERNESS

But even before that, life has given him his cup of bitterness to quaff. In his young manhood he married a girl whom he knew when a law student. Six months afterward he stood by her grave. While a prisoner in jail his old father died. He was refused permission to attend the funeral.

His experiences would have broken down the ordinary man. But Powers, no matter what people think of his guilt or innocence, is not an ordinary man. His will is one of iron, his nerve chilled steel.

When the whole State literally rocked with passion, when he faced hostile Judges, Prosecutors and juries, he never quailed. He was one of the best witnesses for the defense ever seen in a Kentucky courtroom.

New Rabbit Law

Much misapprehension as to the game law passed by the last Legislature has arisen in this county and probably in many other counties, especially as to setting traps and snares for rabbits and other game. The act that passed is very brief and is as follows:

"That it shall be unlawful for anyone to set a steel trap, deadfall or snare or to loose or hunt with a ferret upon the premises or property of another without first securing the written consent of the owner of the premises or property, and anyone thus offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than $5 or more than $25.

"Having in possession game caught, as set out in Section 1, shall be prima facie evidence of guilt as herein provided."

Knoxville World has Ceased Publication.

The valedictory issue of the Knoxville World, an afternoon publication, appeared on the afternoon of the 18th, and the World is no more. Those who had paid subscriptions in advance or had otherwise given the paper financial encouragement, are now without a newspaper as far as the World is concerned.

The World made its initial appearance on April 5 of the present year, issuing 194 numbers and living less than eight months.

The World is said to have been devised as a political organ, and it is virtually admitted in its valedictory editorial.

The equipment from which the paper was issued came in part from New Orleans. The press had been abandoned by the New Orleans Item.

The suspension of publication by the World deprives only a limited number of people of employment, as the force was small in all departments, due to the limitations of the paper.

It is reported that much of the stock in the World company, was held by parties in other cities who had interests that it was hoped to conserve by the maintenance of such a newspaper in Knoxville. Several Knoxville men are also said to have been among the original stockholders. It is understood that the failure of the stockholders to put up the necessary funds to meet the heavy fixed charges of the publication even of a small and very incomplete newspaper was responsible for its discontinuance.

Locates in Oklahoma

Mr. Marion Eagle, of Emanuel, called at this office and handed us cash for subscription for a year and ordered the paper sent to him at Alton, Okla., where he has just gone to locate.

Mr. Eagle has been a citizen of Knox county for 17 years, but now left for the great new state of Oklahoma to join his two sons who have located there. May the best of success follow him.

BARBOURVILLE MOVES RAPIDLY

New Industries Established and Values are on the Increase

The Barbourville Brick and Tile Company, this city's largest industry, is preparing to double its present plant, which represents an investment of $40,000 and employs fifty to sixty men. On account of the inadequate capacity a complete new outfit will be installed during the next two months, doubling the capacity.

At a sale of town lots in a newly opened addition, eighty-three building lots were sold in one day. Many new houses are being planned for the new addition, brick construction to be employed almost exclusively. The building boom here, started last spring, has shown no abatement, and a large number of business and residence houses are still going up.

Mountain Lodge, No. 187, F. and A. M., and Barbourville Chapter, No. 125, are moving into the newly erected temple, which is claimed to be the finest in the State, outside of two or three of the largest cities. The temple will be formerly dedicated the fourth Monday this month.

Since the beginning of winter, southeastern coal operators are having a rush of orders, and coal has undergone a sharp advance, but the shortage of mine s and a lack of coal cars somewhat handicaps operations. Several thousand coal miners could find employment in South-eastern Kentucky mines, as few plants have a full supply of miners.

Unique Election Bet

Nashville—Wednesday night a unique election bet was paid at South Pittsburg, Tenn. Judge Byron Pope bet Taylor would be elected governor, and Horace N. Minnis selected Hooper to win. The wager was that the loser was to ascend Cumberland mountain on the night designated by the winner without shoes, trousers or coat. Judge Pope paid the wager Wednesday night.

OFFERED REWARD FOR KIDNAPPING OF EX-GOV. TAYLOR

Editor of "Appeal to Reason"
Sentenced to the Federal Penitentiary.

F. D. Warren, of Girard, Kans., editor a paper, Appeal to Reason, must serve a term of six months in the Federal Prison at Leavenworth, Kans., and to pay a fine of $1,000 imposed by a jury in the United States Court in Kansas. The sentence of that court was affirmed by an order of the United States Circuit of Appeals, filed today.

Judge Hook wrote the opinion and Jules Adams and Reed concurred.

Warren was accused of sending through the United States mails envelopes on the outside of which was printed "$1,000 reward will be paid to any person who kidnaps ex-Gov. Taylor and returns him to the Kentucky authorities."

The indictment charged that the words were seditious, defamatory and threatening in character, and intended to reflect injuriously on the character of Wm. S. Taylor, a former Governor of Kentucky.

The opinion of Judge Hook held that Congress had almost unlimited power to prescribe postal regulations; that whether the words were true or false, the outside of an envelope was no place for them.

Hats Off to Clinton County.

In looking over the returns of the election last Tuesday, we are moved to call attention to the vote of Clinton county, the home of Elza Bertram, the Democratic nominee. The Republican party of Clinton county is made up of the best blood and brawn of the district. No better men live in the world. It is a treat to any man to visit the county, her manhood is noble and her womanhood pure. They always treat their guests royally and no man ever visited the county and went away without a kind remembrance of her people, and a desire to return. This applies to the whole people of the county without regard to politics.

As to the loyalty of the Republicans of the county, it can truthfully be said that it is not excelled in the whole district, if in fact, it can be equalled. True it is that they have their differences there. The party is not always agreed as to their nominations, but when the nominations are made, when the party speaks, the result is always accepted. We are not familiar with the facts there as to whether the leaders Edwards' forces behaved like men, but if they did not, the result shows that they were not able to influence the voters of the county to prove recreant to their duty.

All hail to Clinton county,
"Faithful, faithful only they."
—Somerset Republican.

Joke On An Editor.

A good joke on an editor who went one evening to report a party at a home recently blessed with a new baby. He met his hostess at the door, and after the usual salutations he asked after the baby's health. The lady who was quite deaf, and suffering with the gripe, thought he was asking after her cold, and answered that although she usually had one every winter, this was the first one she ever had that kept her awake at night a good deal. Then noticing that the newspaper man was getting nervous she could tell by his face he was going to have on hers and asked him to down.—Ex.

WHY THIS EFFORT?

Why all this effort in getting an education? Why all this spending of money, erection of buildings, employment of teachers? What is to be gained? Is it to make a scientist who can go forth into the world and by his knowledge be able to control the elements and make them subservient to man? No not this.

Is it to produce men and women who can go forth into the field of Art, and be able to chisel from marble or draw on canvas, pictures as grand as those of Michael Angelo, or a Raphael? No not this.

Is it to send forth men and women equipped with everything that goes to make them intelligent, who are able to answer every question as to the construction of our universe, and its age? No, not this is the end of true education.

The object of the education of our country, the object of the common schools of our land is to produce men and women endowed with every element that will assist to make themselves and the world better. Endowed with every thought that will assist mankind in more thoroughly and systematically working out the end for which they were created.

You remember the saying of Ralph Waldo Emerson, that the prime object of education is to produce men and women. That does not mean walking machines; that does not mean intellectual machines; but that means men and women who have hearts as well as minds; who look beyond the material things of this world, and look to humanity and to God for the elevation and betterment of mankind.

The common schools of our country are its foundation stone; boys and girls today are attending the schools of our land who never will, or can, enter any higher course. According to the census of 1890, there were over fourteen million boys and girls attending the public schools of our land, and not two percent of that number have ever graduated from our seminaries and colleges in any one year. Then how necessary is it that the common school system of our country should be made better. How necessary is it that every person connected with the maintenance or support of our public schools should be a man or a woman thoroughly equipped for the service, and should give to it their best thought. The world today is seeking men and women who are honest and upright. It will not make them honest to be educated. It will not make them upright to be intellectual. The training they receive must come from persons themselves who know what honesty and uprightness means, and who will, by precept, as well as by example, instill this idea thoroughly into the minds and hearts of their pupils.

THE PHONE AND THE RURAL PROBLEM.

An interesting appreciation of the part the farm telephone has recently come to play in the affairs of the south appeared a short time ago under this heading in the columns of the Atlanta constitution in an editorial which stated:

"Roosevelt's telephone as one of the foremost influences making for the solution of the rural problem. Tennessee of Georgia and other states is convincing testimony that direction.

Following extract from The C Times sets forth this remarkably brief compass while drawing attention to the unique role the rural 'phone plays in politics:

"There is no disputing the fact that the rural telephone has come to stay and that it is one of the greatest conveniences of modern times. Efforts to establish these rural lines should receive the hearty endorsement of all our people. The line out to Kelton is already proving itself a great convenience. Now that the election is to come off, we expect to get the returns within a few minutes of the time that the vote there is counted. Now if we had a direct wire to Cross Keys and West Springs and to Mendon's and to Whitmire, what an easy task we would have to get the returns from every box in the country! Not only that, but the people living along these lines could get the returns from all over the country just as fast as the papers could add up and tabulate the results here. Look here, Mr. Farmer, let's get busy and get these lines scattered throughout our country before another two years. And election returns is but one of the many advantages. If we had good roads and telephone lines how easy to get a doctor in time of sudden illness. Then, too, how easy for the resident in the country to ring up Union, Jonesville, New York, in fact, any market, and get prices or any other valuable information in connection with the marketing of his products! We believe the day of the rural telephone and of the good roads is at hand. An advancing civilization is crying loudly for these two marks of a progressive people."

The farm lines that make almost a network of Georgia comprised a material factor in the ease with which the Constitution made its unprecedented reports of the results in the state's recent gubernatorial election. It was notable that returns came in from those counties well supplied with the rural 'phone infinitely more quickly than from those counties that have not yet seen the light in the right place.

The Times is correct. The political usefulness of the rural 'phone is one of its smallest advantages. The farmer with this instrument in his house keeps a finger on the pulse of the market, has the doctor almost next door, is protected in the event of fire and is in immediate touch with his neighbors as well as with civilization so far as this country is concerned.

When it is considered that the average farmer can install this advance agent of development at a cost less than the present return from a bale of cotton, it is not difficult to understand why the rural 'phone is making great strides in this as in other states.

That the telephone is comparable only to the "good roads" movement in its broadening effect on the southern farm population is the opinion of some of the South's most eminent men. It requires a long time to build a good road even when a community decides it wants one, but it is a matter of only a few days and a little cost to get a telephone line.

The growth of the farm telephone movement throughout the country is shown by the figures of the Western Electric Company, which reports having sold no less than a quarter-million of its telephones in the past twenty months. The south had a good share in this total, a great many thousands of the instruments having come into this section. Unquestionably the extended development of the rural telephone throughout the south will result not only in economies in farming methods but in what is as much if not more important—greater safety to the southern homes and better social conditions in these homes.

The Gentleman From the "Bloody Eleventh"

In a preliminary County Court trial at Frankfort, when things were shaping themselves for a "gun play" between rival attorneys, when men made a break for windows and doors and when others were drawing their pistols, Powers remained cool and tried to pacify his own attorney.

So, in his third trial, Powers astonished the State by making the closing speech in his own behalf. He spoke long, and he spoke well. It was the cold, clear exposition of the facts, as he saw them, without a single warm, human note, until in the peroration, when he expressed the conviction that the jurors were going to send him back to the little mountain cabin he called home, where a grieving old mother sat watching and waiting and praying for him.

The jury responded by sentencing him to death.

AND EVEN THEN HE KEEPS HIS NERVE

But even then he did not break down. He might blanch, but he quickly rallied. While waiting once more for the high court of the State to determine his fate he resumed his regular routine—so many hours for sleep, so many for writing, and so many for exercise with dumbbells and pulleys.

In this manner he kept his mind from breaking down, and also kept his bodily strength from melting away, as so often happens with long-term prisoners confined in cramped country jails with their fetid odors.

During his long incarceration, Powers got an inside acquaintance with the county jails in Newport, Georgetown, Frankfort and Louisville, his appearance in Newport causing a big row between the Republican county officials and the Democratic city officials.

That's in brief the story of "THE GENTLEMAN FROM THE ELEVENTH KENTUCKY," whose name is still anathema to Kentucky Democrats, and who was named by fervid Republican orators all over the country "The Dreyfus of the Dark and Bloody Ground."

What's the Answer?

Recently a number of young people were talking about the Bible, when someone asked: "How many letters are there in the shortest verse of the Bible?" The answer to that question is the answer to this problem:

To the number of letters in the city where Paul established the first church on the continent of Europe add the number of years Paul remained in Ephesus on his third missionary journey; multiply by the number of letters in the name of the man whose wife became a pillar of salt; subtract the number of letters in the name of the great Hebrew law giver and leader who was born in Egypt; subtract the number of letters in the name of the great prophet who was led by the ravens; subtract the number of letters in the name of the man who was called the most patient man in the Old Testament; subtract the number of letters in the name of the man who stole the wedge of gold when he went with Joshua into Canaan; and subtract the number of books of Devotion in the Old Testament, and your answer will be the number of letters in the shortest verse of the Bible.

Notice of Sale of LAND FOR TAXES!

Ten Doctors Said He Would Die

"In 1903 we wrote you regarding my husband, who was suffering from heart trouble. He was superannated by the North Georgian Conference. Ten doctors at different times said he would die. You advised Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and Restorative Nervine; we did as advised, and improvement was apparent from the very first. He recovered and the Conference in 1904 gave him a charge. He never felt better, although he has very heavy work and does a great deal of camp meeting work. I am so glad we took your advice and gave him the medicine, and feel that I ought to let you know of the wonderful good results from its use."

Follow this advice.

Quaker Oats is the best of all foods. It is also the cheapest. When such men as Prof. Fisher of Yale University and Sir James Crichton Browne, LL.D.-F.R.S., of London speak the best parts of their lives in studying the great question of the nourishing and strengthening qualities of different foods, it is certain that their advice is absolutely safe to follow.

Professor Fisher found in his experiments for testing the strength and endurance of athletes that the meat eaters were exhausted long before the men who were fed on such food as Quaker Oats. The powers of endurance of the non-meat eaters were about eight times those of the meat eaters.

Sir James Crichton Browne says—eat more oatmeal, eat plenty of it and eat it frequently.

Charles Cole has accepted a position as bookkeeper for the Hughes Jelico Coal Co., and will be located at Elys.

Misses Gertrude Black, Cora Sevier and Jessie Miller went to Pineville Saturday to visit Mrs. R. N. Corbett.

Miss Ella Smith left Wednesday for Corbin to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stivers during Thanksgiving.

P. B. Davis, representing the Louisville Herald, was in this city last Tuesday, taking orders for the daily and Sunday edition of that paper.

Miss Maude McDonald, Miss Nan Riley, Messrs "Crip" Davis and Fred Hemphill spent Sunday in Corbin, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Orban Miles.

State Senator Joe F. Bosworth, of Middleboro, was a visitor in this city for a short time last Tuesday shaking hands with quite a number of the voters.

Cora Stewart, of Hammond's Fork, and Thos. A. Savage, of the same neighborhood, were pleasant callers at this office last Saturday while in town.

Mrs. Howard Ross and little daughter, Ruth, of Trosper, came down Monday to spend Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Sawyers. Miss Bessie Sawyers accompanied her sister home.

J. L. Dozier and family left Wednesday night for their new home in Garrard county, near Lancaster, but before going he renewed his subscription to the Advocate to January 1st, 1912. Knox county has lost an estimable family, while Garrard has gained one. The best wishes of the entire community go with them.

LOCAL LOOM BREVITIES

Masonic Temple

The new Masonic Temple over the Lawson building is rapidly nearing completion and the chapter lodge will hold the first meeting in the hall on tomorrow afternoon.

This temple is indeed a thing of beauty and would be a credit to a city many times the size of Barbourville.

When completed, the temple alone will have cost the masons $4,500, which will be equally divided between the blue lodge and the chapter.

$80.00 per month straight salary and expenses, to men with rig, to introduce our Pastry Remedies. Don't answer unless you mean business. Eureka Pastry Food Mfg. Co. (Inc.) East St. Louis, Ill.

PENALTY

Beginning Dec. 1st, a Penalty of Six per cent. will be added to YOUR City and School Tax.

Pay same now so as to avoid the raise.

GEO. F. TINSLEY,
Collector.

SHERIFF'S SALE

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale directed to me, which issued from the Clerk's Office of the PINEVILLE POLICE COURT in favor of L. N. WHITE and against CLINCHFIELD HARDWARE COMPANY, on November 1st, 1910, I, or one of my deputies, will on the 10th day of December, Saturday, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 2 o'clock p. m. at or near Noah Smith's storehouse in the town of Flat Lick, Knox county, Kentucky, expose to public sale to the highest and best bidder the following described personal property (or so much as may be enough to satisfy plaintiff's debt interest and costs), about four thousand feet (4,000) of lumber in three stacks located at Flat Lick and levied upon as the property of said defendant, Clinchfield Hardware Company.

The debt, interest and costs amount to $118.30 on the day of sale; and $7.25 cost of newspaper advertisement.

TERMS: Sale will be made on a credit of three months and purchaser will be required to execute bond with approved security bearing six per cent interest from date of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a replevin bond.

Witness my hand as Sheriff of Knox county, this 21st day of November, 1910.

S. H. Jones, S. K. C.

NOTICE

J. R. Foley & Co., Pliffs, vs.

Lewis Fole & Co., Defs.

The creditors of L. W. Foley, deceased, are hereby notified that they are required to appear before me on December 8, 1910, at the law office of J. M. Robison, in Barbourville, Kentucky, and prove and have filed their claims against said estate.

J. R. Jones, Commissioner Knox Circuit Court.

J. M. Robison, Attorney for administrator.

Light Plant Leased

A. D. Smith, of this city, has leased the electric light plant and will take charge on December 1st.

Mr. Smith is a practical machinist and is competent to handle anything of that nature. He has had charge of the heating and lighting plant of Union College for the past year and has handled that plant in an entirely satisfactory manner.

It is sincerely hoped that he will the service of our lighting system.

Not many miles from our town an ignorant fellow had fallen in love with one of the queens of creation. Not being able to write her as good a letter as he desired, in his extremity he sought the assistance of an acquaintance, and requested that among the other sweet sentences some poetry should be couched. Poetry is the language of love and portrays the heart better than prose, and of course it would be the proper medium in which to address her. The acquaintance—who we can hardly call him a friend—wrote the following verses:

"If you were a dog,

And I were a hog

A routin' in your rosin yard,

And the old man should say,

"Chase that hog away,"

Tell me, would you bite me hard?"

The fellow was pleased, but he lost his love. Moral: Get an education at our schools.

1874-THE MOUNTAIN ECHO-1875

From the Pen of Hon. John H. Wilson and Hon. Vincent Boring, Re-Echoed from '74 and '75

KNOX COUNTY LOCALS, JUNE 25TH, 1875.

The roads and bridges of our county are in a bad condition. Let the grand jury get after the overseers.

Old corn can be bought in this county at 60cts per bushel. There is more than enough to supply the demand of the county.

One day last week, one of our Merchants got "a little shy" and sold heavy brown cotton at 10-cents, and calico at nine cents per yard.

H. H. York has gone to Arkansas to look at the country, with a view of moving there. Judge Milton York is now living in Washington county, Arkansas.

The Trustees of town have done some good work on the streets, and the public square has been well graded and cleaned off around the court house, which adds to the town's appearance.

County court next Monday, when a convention will be held to send delegates to the convention, at London, on the first day of July, to nominate a candidate for the Senate.

T. J. Culton, Stewart Wyatt, Will and John Anderson and Joe Davis, went to London to the Good Templars picnic. Culton is struck; Wyatt is thought to be dead as he has not yet returned.

John Chapel, who lives on Greasy, in Harlan county, has a sweet potato weighing sixteen pounds. He keeps it buried, and has taken snips from it for seven years, and says it grows larger every year. He calls it "old mother potato."

H. B. Hudson received from Garrard county, a few days ago, a very fine Newfoundland pup—the charges on which amounted to only $6 and 20-cents. He thinks he will go into the dog business. Those wishing fine "purps" will leave their orders with him.

If the Grangers would buy a portable saw mill, it would be to the people's interest; for the farmers can not make much improvement in barns, out-houses, dwellings and fences until they can get plank. We predict that a good, cheap portable sawmill would prove a blessing to the county, and as it would be more to the farmers' interest than to that of any other class, we think the Grangers should try the experiment.

A friend informs us that the district in this county—known as Trosper's Chapel has sixty children and eighty-two dogs—allowing all the districts in the county, fifty two, to average with this, and we have four thousand two hundred and sixty-four dogs in the county; allowing each one-pound of bread per day, they consume one million five hundred and fifty five thousand three hundred and sixty pounds of bread each year.

Examination for Teachers next Saturday, June 26th. Jno. D. Jarvis, School Commissioner, suggests that all teachers meet in Barbourville on Saturday and elect a delegate to the State Teachers' Association. All Teachers who taught school in districts which purchased Collins' History are entitled to have their money refunded. This applies to the years 1871-72. The teachers of Knox who are entitled to this money will meet Mr. Jarvis here on the 2nd Saturday in July.

Cager Logan, of Knox county, was seriously injured about two weeks ago by being kicked by horses. He had been to the depot after a load of goods and was stopping with Sam Bengy. In the night he heard his horses fighting in the stable and on entering he was kicked in the face and breast. His teeth were knocked out, besides receiving other serious injuries. He was taken to the house apparently lifeless, but was finally restored to consciousness. He is now at his home slowly recovering.

GOOD TEMPLARS.—J. J. Rust, of Perryville, and T. B. Demaree, of Harrodsburg were in Knox and Bell counties, week before last, organizing Lodges of Good Templars. Demaree went to Bell and organized two Lodges—one at Pineville with about forty members, and one on Yellow Creek with about twenty-five members. Rust remained in this county and inside of thirty hours traveled forty-six miles on horseback—lectured five times, organized four lodges, viz: At Flat Lick with thirty-six members; at Fighting Creek with twenty-nine; at McClellans Chapel with over forty; at Trosper's Chapel with twenty. If the Good Templars, Sunday Schools and Grangers were to unite and have a "big time" some time next fall, what a large crowd there would be.

Our fishermen are still having good luck. A few days ago T. J. Pitzer was crossing the river in a ferry boat when a large "jumper" weighing 8½ lbs, ran against the boat and was so stunned as to be caught by Pitzer. It is thought it was after a minnow. On last Saturday Pitzer caught, with a hook and line baited with a red worm, a green jumper weighing three pounds. Henry Hunter has caught several of these green jumpers, but he baits with little fish. Some of the largest suckers and "red eyes" ever caught here have been caught this season, and their meat is remarkably firm and sweet—considering the warm weather.

DEATHS.—Joe Evans, an old and respected citizen of this county, died at 7 o'clock a. m. He has lived in this and Whitley counties all his life, and was a candidate for the Legislature. He had been in bad health for some time—Dewey W. Perkins, who lived on Meadow Creek, Whitley county, died on June 14th. He had been confined for several months by consumption. His funeral was preached by Rev. J. P. Grinstead who informs us that Mr. Perkins was born January 14th, 1839, converted September 1859, licensed to preach 1860, married 1859.

GRANGE STORES.—There are two Grange stores in this county, one at Flat Lick under charge of Wm. Mark and the other on Fighting Creek under charge of John Gundstaff. They sell for cash, which we hope will be the means of abolishing, to a great extent, the credit system in the stores. Buying and selling goods on a credit is the cause of many hardships and law suits. It entices the poor man to go in debt, and he is bound to pay more for his goods than if he were to pay cash for them. By crediting, many a merchant has been ruined. But if the Grangers will only introduce the cash system for goods, they will have accomplished much good. The merchants in the county are reducing their prices. We want big advertisements from every one of them—Grangers included.

SENATORIAL—BELL COUNTY CONVENTION.—At a convention held at Pineville, 14th June, County Court day. On motion M. J. Moss was called to the chair, and E. Wilson was chosen Secretary. On motion, a committee on resolutions was appointed. I. S. Horn, H. C. Rice and S. D. Tinsley, the committee reported as follows, which was adopted: Resolved, That we approve the call for a Senatorial Convention at London, July 1st, and suggest M. J. Moss and L. S. Horn as delegates, who are hereby instructed to cast the vote of Bell, for our worthy countryman Wm. M. Bingham, should he be before the convention; if he is not before the convention our delegates are instructed to cast the vote for Hon. H. F. Finley, of Whitley county.—2. That we approve of the platform adopted by the State Convention, and pledge the nominees our hearty support.—Supplementary—3.—That we appoint E. Hurst, I. S. Horn and all other Republicans of Bell county delegates to the convention at Mt. Pleasant, 1st Monday in July, to nominate a candidate for the Legislature for the counties of Bell, Harlan and Perry, and instruct that the vote of this county be cast for Judge James Culton, of Harlan.—4.—That these resolutions be published in the Mountain Echo.—On motion, the convention adjourned.

A SPLENDID OPPORTUNITY For Bargain Seekers.

FOR CASH.

WE know that this is an age when everyone is seeking bargains and many will not buy unless they can realize that they are getting bargains. We have been a long time in business and our experience has enabled us to foresee the requirements, and we have taken advantage of this, and stocked our Mammoth Store with real

FIRST CLASS BARGAINS

When we say FIRST CLASS, we mean it in the true sense and only ask that you call and see for yourself.

It would be far too extensive an undertaking to quote prices here, and besides it would be too expensive, so we have decided to mention just a few to show you that we will actually save you money if you come and trade with me.

DRY GOODS:—

Standard Calicos at 5c per yard and less.—Standard plaid cotton at 5c per yard and up.—Ladies Dress goods from 10c per yard and up.—Best quality Gingham 5c per yard and up.

GROCERIES:—

Meats, 12½c to 15c per lb.—Coffee, 12½c to 15c per lb.—Sugar, 6c to 6½c per lb.—Flour, 65c to 75c per sack.—Meal 38c per sack.

A nice line of Ladies' Fall and Winter Hats, latest patterns, at prices that will please.

We could go on and fill this entire page of the paper with our LOW PRICES, but we will invite you to come in and see for yourself. SEEING IS BELIEVING, and if you see for yourself you are sure to be convinced. Our delight is to please our customers. If you are not one, we want to make you one. So give us a call.

Very truly,

ADVERTISING ADVICE.

Advertise and keep advertising until you have made enough money.

The value of advertising is not in proportion to its size, but in proportion to its persistence.

Don't look for results as soon as the first man has read your advertisement.

The newspaper is the old reliable advertising medium.

A poor joke printed is a boomerang. A good joke diverts attention from your prices of goods.

Put prices in your advertisement—real bargains.

If you are using a small space, talk about one article at a time.

Talk about your goods, not about your firm or what a fine place your store is.

Sign all your advertisements the same way.

Advertise the thing there's profit in, at the same time giving your customers a real bargain in their purchase.

Be brief. People who have time to read long ads, have little money with which to buy goods.

Change your ads, often. People think you are not alive if you don't.
